The semiformal affair will be held in the Alumni Gym from 8 to 12 p.m. Tickets will be on sale in the Frank I. Williams Center for $3 per couple and $1.75 stag.

The Tempests have played at the University of Georgia, Clemson University and Augusta College. They have also performed at the Augusta Country Club and at other private clubs in the state.

The Masquers first drama presentation of the year was presented last night in McCroan Auditorium and will continue tonight and tomorrow evening. "The Visit," a contemporary play by Friedrich Durrenmatt, is presented with a cast of 33 student actors and actresses. It is classified as 'adult entertainment' and it has not been advertised in the high schools.

Tickets On Sale For 'Adult Play'

By HALLEY FENNELL
Staff Writer

The curtain rises tonight in McCroan Auditorium at 8 p.m. on the second performance of the Masquers' production of "The Visit," described by Masquer's director Robert Overstreet as "a story of uncontrollable passion."

Overstreet designated Friedrich Durrenmatt's play as adult entertainment and for this reason it has not been advertised in the high schools. "It is lurid and very frank," stated Overstreet.

Tickets are on sale for $7.50 in the lobby of the Frank I. Williams Center, and will be available at the door. They are on sale in Statesboro at The Music Box.

The story of Claire Zachanassian, who will be played by Dean Robinson, is like a fairy-tale. She returns to her hometown and offers the townspeople a billion marks on the condition that Antol Schill, a man who betrayed her as a girl, be killed. Wendell Ramage, a senior from Chester, will play the part of Anton Schill.

The townspeople's first reply is that they are civilized people. In the last acts, however, they decide that they not only will kill him, but they must.

The interest of the play arises from motivations for revenge and out of subtle change of the townspeople, who avenge Claire's mistreatment.

Costumes were made by June Farmer, Zebe Chesnut and Polly Searle. The cast consists of 33 roles.

Guy BonGiovanni will play the part of the Burgomaster, and Curry Redd is Frau Burgomaster. Dr. David Ruffin, associate professor of English, will portray the pastor. Zebe Chesnut is Frau Schill, and Kenn Robbins in the teacher.

Memorial Services Held For Southern Student Fatalities

Memorial services were held on Monday evening during Twilight for three Georgia Southern students who died in a two-car head-on crash near Gordon Friday night.

Killed in the crash was William Burnett, 19; Lamar Harris, 19; and William Smallwood, 18, all of Macon.

Another student, Felton Lewis Davis of Macon, was the driver of the car and was injured in the accident. According to reliable reports, Davis is out of the hospital and will return to school within the next few weeks.

State Trooper J. C. Pope of the Dublin Patrol Station reported to the Macon Telegraph that the car in which the students were riding apparently blew a tire, went off the right side of the road, then swerved back across the road into the path of another car.

Both Burnett and Harris were pronounced dead on arrival at the Macon Hospital. Smallwood died two hours later.

Lamar Harris was a sophomore English major. He was a pre-ministerial student, president of the sophomore class and sports editor of the George-Anne. Funeral services were held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Macon.

William Burnett was a freshman. He graduated from Willingham High School, played football and was on the school band. Funeral services were held at 4:30 Sunday in Macon.

William Smallwood was in his first year at Southern. He was also a graduate of Willingham High School. Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Sunday.

A number of GSC students attended the funerals of the three students.

Several hundred students attended a special memorial service held in McCroan Auditorium Monday evening.

Plans Made For Sunrise Service

A Thanksgiving Sunrise Service will be held on Wednesday morning at 6:30 a.m. at the home of President Zach S. Henderson.

The interdenominational service will be held outdoors. Father Henry Louttit of the Trinity Episcopal Church will officiate. The brief service will be over in time for students to eat breakfast in the dining hall before first period classes.

International students will be the honored guests at a Thanksgiving breakfast at the First Baptist Church. The Baptist bus will provide transportation to the church.

Tickets for the breakfast are priced at 35 cents and may be obtained from Ruby Woodward in Hendrix Hall, from the George-Anne office or the Religious Activities Center.

Dr. Zach S. Henderson addressed the group. Students provided special music.

Lamar Harris Scholarship Fund Established As College Memorial

The Lamar Harris Scholarship Fund has been set up by the Wesley Foundation to help ministerial students attending Georgia Southern College, according to Rev. Willis Moore, director of Wesley Foundation.

Lamar Harris, a sophomore ministerial student from Macon, was killed in an automobile accident last Friday. He was president of the sophomore class, sports editor of the George-Anne and an officer in Wesley Foundation.

According to Rev. Moore, the memorial fund "will be a living tribute to Lamar to carry on the work cut short by his untimely death."

Students may deposit money for the fund in the container set up for this purpose in the dining hall, or in the George-Anne office. All funds contributed will be deposited in one of the local Statesboro banks.

Construction has begun on the new 300 capacity women's dormitory being constructed on Georgia Avenue. Demetree Builders, Inc., are building the three-story structure. It will be constructed in the form of a court and will have complete air-conditioning. Completion date is set for one year.

WHAT IS SIN?

Because the Episcopal Church doesn't urge upon her adherents abstinence from tobacco, card playing, alcohol, dancing, and such like, it has gained the reputation of being "liberal about sin."

We who are Episcopalians do not agree with that idea. In fact, quite the contrary. We find that being an Episcopalian involves some rather well defined discipline.

But, on this subject of sin, let's ask—just what is it?

The way that we look at it—that is the way it is interpreted to us—sin is defined as imposing our wills over against God's will.

That definition both simplifies and complicates. Knowing God's will for us, we find, demands a life of prayer, a life of faith, a recognition of God's constant presence, the frequent "strengthening and refreshing" of our souls through the Holy Communion.

We recognize the fact that God has given us all things, and that sin is not the thing itself, or its use, but rather its misuse. This must lead to the conclusion that any intemperance—overeating, for instance, is as much a sin as any other abuse of God's gifts.

Wouldn't you like to know more about the teaching of the Episcopal Church? Visit one soon. Come and worship God with us.

Trinity Church, Lee Street & US 80, Statesboro welcomes you. Services 8:00, 9:30, & 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Student Injured In Gun Mishap

A Georgia Southern student was injured late Monday afternoon when the gun he was carrying accidentally discharged, striking him in the leg.

Gary Coker, a senior accounting major from Monroe, was hunting with two friends when the accident occurred. Coker was struck in the thigh, just above the kneecap, by a hollow point, 22 caliber long-rifle shell.

Ken Bennett, along on the trip, rushed Coker to the Bulloch County Hospital, where the bullet was removed. Hospital authorities described Coker's condition as good.

Music Div. To Present Recitals

The division of music will present seven concerts during fall quarter, with the first recital by students of organ, voice and piano on Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Music Building.

Monday, a recital of instrumental solos and ensembles will be presented. Miss Jerry Pevey will present a senior voice recital on Tuesday, Dec. 1. Both recitals will be held in the Recital Hall at 8 p.m.

The college band will present a concert on Wednesday, Dec. 2, and the college choir will perform on Tuesday, Dec. 8. The concerts will be held in McCroan Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

Winston Willis will present a senior organ recital on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6, at 3 p.m. On Sunday night the women of the college choir will sing the Ceremony of Carols by Benjamin Britten at the regular evening services at Pittman Park Methodist Church.

Mormon Displays Shown In Center

A display depicting Mormonism will appear until Nov. 25 in the lobby of the Frank I. Williams Center.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, better known as the Mormon Church, is making a concerted effort to rejuvenate the Statesboro branch of the church. Missionaries John Earl and Gary Rallison are heading the movement.

The Mormons are known because of their world-famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir and because of their exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Interested students are invited to attend Mormon services on Sunday at 10:00 a.m. and at 6:30 p.m. in the Music Building on the Georgia Southern campus.

'Ugly Man On Campus' Contest Coming Up Early In December

Georgia Southern's Most "ugly Man on Campus" will be named Friday, Dec. 4, at a National Guard Armory dance sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega.

UMOC, the service fraternity's annual contest, will be held Nov. 30-Dec. 3 on the Georgia Southern campus.

According to Bucky Watson, a member of the fraternity's publicity committee, all organizations and dormitories may enter one candidate. Each penny collected by the candidates will count as one vote and the contestant with the most money at the close of the contest will become GSC's "Ugly Man" for 1964-65.

Letters are being sent to each organization and dormitory outlining the specific rules governing the contest. If an organization or dormitory is not contacted by APO, it is urged to get in touch with Watson, newly elected president Billy Brodman or any APO brother.

Watson said that Alpha Phi Omega "would like everyone to get in the spirit." The candidates should dress for the occasion and carry coin jars with them. "The size of the coin box is unlimited," Watson said. "The contestants may use tin cans if they want to."

All profits from the four day contest will be turned over to a charity to be voted on by the fraternity.

Parade Trailers To Be Provided

Organizations interested in entering a float in the Statesboro Christmas Parade will be provided with a flat trailer for float decoration.

The parade is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 6:30 p.m. Organizations must furnish their own decorating materials and do their own decoration. Each group may choose its own theme for their float. There will be no design restrictions.

Clubs interested in securing trailers should contact Bernard Morris at the Morris Grocery in Statesboro. Trailers will be delivered to any spot on or off campus where the organization wishes to work.

Paleomagnetism Subject For Talk

Dr. Robert L. DuBois, member of the geology department at the University of Arizona, will address the Archaeology Society Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in Room 114 of the Frank I. Williams Center.

He has travelled extensively in England, France, Mexico, Switzerland, Hawaii and Japan to conduct his research. His visit to the Georgia Southern campus is sponsored by the American Geophysical Union, under the Visiting Scientist Program in Geophysics.

The proposed subject for discussion is paleomagnetism. Other topics are rock magnetism and its application to geophysical interpretations, polar wandering and paleolatitudes, and iron meteorites and their magnetic properties.

All interested students and faculty members are invited to hear Dr. DuBois.

Poor Planning

The Student Congress Social Committee's efforts to gain student body sanction of several big name groups for Homecoming appeared to be unorganized, as well as unethical.

Several big-name groups were placed before the student body on Monday in the form of a special ballot. Students were to vote for the groups they would like to have appear on the Southern campus during the Homecoming activities.

What students did not understand was that no previous planning or assurance was given that the college could secure any one of the attractions. The Congress made no prior correspondence to booking agencies to see if any one of these groups would be able to meet "our" date.

We feel that the Committee should have given greater consideration to groups they knew would be available. We realize that it takes time to write the booking agencies, but we also are aware of the waste of time and misunderstanding resulting from the "free-for-all" balloting held on Monday.

It's hard to see any logic in having students vote on something that has no foundation.

Taken For Granted

Stop Everything! In our editorial of last week concerning the lack of campus activities and organization participation, we failed to give due credit to the Georgia Southern Masquers drama group.

So let it be known that the George-Anne fully recognizes the tremendous role this group plays in promoting student participation, entertainment, and cultural opportunities on campus. Already this year, the Masquers have presented through their Fine Arts Series the superb professional production of "Spoon River", and Freidrich Durrenmatt's "The Visit" is currently being presented in McCroan Auditorium.

The Masquers have several other plays scheduled for the year. The George-Anne offers apologies to the Masquers for overlooking them in last week's activities. See how easy it is to take a good thing for granted.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"OFCOURSE I CAN PASS YOU 'ON CONDITION' — ON THE CONDITION YOU WILL NEVER EVER TAKE A COURSE FROM ME AGAIN."

Tommy HOLTON

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving, a day set aside in this country for the expression of gratitude for the blessings received during the year.

There is no person on this earth who has nothing for which he can be thankful. People who deny that there is no good and refuse to admit that there is, usually have an attitude that exists only in the darkened mind and heart.

HOLTON

Regardless of our age, we have been celebrating Thanksgiving all of our lives. Its fundamental purposes came from our forefathers and are basic among those ideas which have made America the great nation it is.

The Pilgrims instigated Thanksgiving as a time for humility. It was, and still is, a time to pause for a thread of self-examination to measure how we stack up on our balance sheet with God.

Whether we be atheist, agnostic, or deeply religious, we can't help but stop and think about this world in which we live. Often we take for granted such magnificent wonders such as the stars in the sky, the rising and setting of the sun, the beauty of the fall season, and our personal bodies.

It's easy to say "I'm thankful," without really coming to an inner understanding of what we are thankful for. It's easy to go to our churches on Thanksgiving morning and bow our heads while the minister says "God we are thankful. . ." But are we really?

Thanksgiving and its purposes are abused grossly and more often its ideals are forgotten in a festive holiday spirit. The cynical, the ungrateful, the unmindful usually laugh down in scorn reminders such as these.

Misconceptions... 'Did You Know...' --- Aw Really!

By GARY ROBERTS
and BOB FLANDERS

Did you know that "Communists are secretly mass-liquidating anticommunists and God worshippers with tasteless poisons?"

Did you know that "Robin Hood was a communist?"

Did you know that up to 150,000 Chinese Communist troops were training in Baja California? (George B. Leonard, Look, Oct. 20, 1964)

Gary Roberts Bob Flanders

Such wild accusations as these are typical of the super-patriot organizations of the far right. These actual examples indicate the extremes to which these people go. In last weeks column we pointed out the futility of such methods in fighting communism. With this in mind it is well to examine some of the super-patriot organizations who forecast an imminent takeover of communism.

Robert G. Sherill in The Nation of Feb. 24, 1964, points out that in the weeks just prior to the assassination of President Kennedy the commentators on Life Line were calling for "extreme patriotism." On the very morning of the assassination the Dallas program "prophesied a day when American citizens would no longer be allowed to own firearms with which to gun down their rulers."

NO EVIDENCE

While there is no evidence that the action of Lee Harvey Oswald had any relation to such a program, these broadcasts were, in the words of a New Republic editor, "the kind of program... that the brooding Oswalds of the left or right listen to and sometimes act upon."

The rabid right spews out a minimum of 6,600 broadcasts a week, carried by nearly one out of five radio and television stations in America (Fred J. Cook, Nation, May 25, 1964). The Twentieth Century Reformation Hour, Life Line, the Dan Smoot Report, America's Future, the Christian Crusade, and Church League of America are but a few of these programs.

QUICK

While loudly decrying the usurpation of power by the federal government, these groups are quick to take advantage of tax exemptions granted to religious and educational foundations. Furthermore, these groups not only complement one another, but they have also formed a top level coordinating committee called the Anti-Communism Liaison.

Though loosely connected the unifying force among these groups seems to be the John Birch Society, the organization which has said:

"A republican form of government or of organization has many attractions and advantages, under certain favorable conditions. But under less happy circumstances it lends itself too readily to infiltration, distortion and disruption. And democracy, of course, in government or organization, as the Greeks and Romans both found out... is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

MINUTEMEN

The Minutemen, a semi-military, highly conspiratorial organization is similar to the Birch Society. When the "take-over" comes this group plans to "go to the fields and fight." The Minutemen infiltrate "left wing or peace organizations by people who are not known as Rightists." Are these tactics not similar to those used by Communist groups?

Under the guise of such innocent phrases as "constitutional conservatism" and "Americanism," these organizations foist a lie upon America for they are neither conservative nor truly American. Moreover, as Fred Cook has pointed out:

RABID RIGHT

"The rabid Right goes its unimpeded way, mouthing its fantasies, preaching its destructive creed of hate and suspicion, casting doubt on the loyalty of Presidents, on the motives of the Supreme Court, on the trustworthiness of any American official who opposes its eighteenth century, pre-Revolutionary creed that only the select and the wealthy have the right to rule. If liberals or "leftists" had ever indulged in a fraction of such nonsense, the House Un-American Activities Committee would have risen up, roaring with outrage, at 5 o'clock in the morning."

HITLERISM

As Richard L. Tobin said, "Like Hitlerism, which couldn't

gort

...And, in case it does come, each ark includes a bow and arrow for use against less farsighted neighbors.

possibly be taken seriously because the man had a Charlie Chaplin moustache and didn't make sense when he talked, Welchism has grown because no sensible person could believe it possible that his patent idiocies would be taken seriously in the second half of the twentieth century."

For too long the radical right has been laughed off.

American Beatniks Big Show Across These United States

By LUTZ SEIDEL

As a sequence to my recent article about the "continental Beatnik" and his existentialistic background, I'd like to write down my impressions here in the United States.

He is still living the much reviled and laughed about Beatnik. From what I saw and what I heard, samples of this human species are still haunting the United States. But their grave-stones are already chiselled. This phenomenon is today 8 years old. At that time existentialism in Europe was already old hat; for it was a philosophy created by Sartre and Camus for the materially and mentally downcast postwar generation to give it new hope and new ideals to cling to.

SEIDEL

Globetrotting Americans - typically armed with camera, map, walking cane and sunglasses, whether there is sun or not, haunting Europe in their brought along cars which they nearly drive into the castles they want to explore - discovered this phenomenon in Paris and transplanted it into their home-country.

Is it now the speed in which American tourists generally rush through the continent, hurrying from one tourist attraction to the other? Is it the completely different atmosphere in the NEW WORLD? Or is it that America as a paragon of a "Social country" (take for example this campus with its over 60 social organizations) gives such a hard time to individualists, to non-conformists, to people who are not like the others, so that these "non-Americans" were gradually exterminated. The result of this unfortunate transplantation was that only the shell of the imported existentialist flourished.

For simplicity Uncle Sam only imported the uncombed, shaggy hair, these crazy whiskers and of course the aversion to any kind of motion of these Parisian species. In his notorious hurry he simply forgot the mental or rather philosophical background, which once justified existentialism in Europe and gave those disciples of this philosophy a right to exist, so that society who had reflected about the smashed values of postwar-Europe, created a philosophy to resurrect the downcast generation.

Actually the roots of existentialism go back to the Danish philosopher Soeren Kierkegaard with one main difference: Sartre and Camus turned existentialism to a "canned" philosophy to feed the people. There have never been similar attempts here in the United States, though America contributed its share to philosophy with pragmatism.

The continental Beatnik wanted to be more than just an ideal and did not intend to be copied by the trigger-happy American tourists. As a lack of a grown "Weltanschauung" the American Beatnik became a nuisance, ridiculed by "Honorable" citizens who glanced at them, smiled and passed. For a Beatnik with his typical regalia seems to be in the wrong place here.

The contrast between neatly dressed citizens who vegetate along in a scheduled and rhythmic life and a sloppily dressed beatnik, especially with his notorious aversion to any kind of motion here in a busy America, seems to be too great.

During the centuries attempts have been made to bring exotic plants and animals to other parts of the world, but these experiments were condemned to fail, for something had either been forgotten or miscalculated.

The beatnik had the same destiny. This species requires an "optimum" like Paris and other big European cities. A mental metropolis like Paris just seems to be the only place where the Beatnik can thrive. This movement - transplanted here to the USA - is aimlessly languishing. The tired and listless revolution against a smug bourgeoisie dies of boredom, another feature of this French import. Several survivors of this movement - unaware of the fact that they are already on the death-roll - are still haunting Florida's and California's coasts.

Deprived of their mental and philosophical background they are nothing more but bums and tourist attractions. (The Americans need not go to Paris any more) The graves have been dug already, at least here in the United States, and ambitious citizens with a lack of humour are waiting with their shovels in their hands for the sign to close these graves and nothing but the tombstones - if any - will remind posterity of this unfortunate transplantation.

Kennedy's Death Reminds Us Of Patriotic Responsibility

By BRYANT YOUNANS

The day was Friday, November 22, 1963, and you were there! Yes, we were all there and I can remember that day very well. The skies were darkened and a sense of emptiness seemed to engulf American life.

YOUNANS

There was a feeling that the nation's future was doomed. All hope had disappeared from the American people. All world was stunned. John Fitzgerald Kennedy was dead.

He had fought his last battle for the human race, for freedom, for human dignity, and for the country he loved. It is truly ironical that a man could live through a World War and, yet, lost his life in his own country by the warped mind of Lee Harvey Oswald.

LAST RIDE

The ride through Dallas, Texas, was his last, but it was a triumphful and courageous ride of a man who had reached his height of glory not only in this country but all over the world. His recent receptions in Germany, Italy, and Ireland had attested his international fame. He was the man of the hour and suddenly he was cut down.

As November 22, 1964, approaches, all Americans should bow their heads in silence in memory of this great American and statesman. Moreover, they should ask themselves these questions: What kind of America do I live in? Am I really living in a civilized society? What is happening to this land? What can I do to help?

JFK's SOLUTION

In the words of President Kennedy lies a possible solution. He said, "Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for your country." What can we do for our country? By following the examples of courage and loyalty that President Kennedy displayed, one could inspire others.

When I think of the tribute paid to President Kennedy by the student body of Georgia Southern, I immediately recall the tremendous patriotism displayed that night.

Sweetheart Circle was flooded with students. I can still see the faces - faces of grief, sympathy, uncertainty, and insecurity when the American Flag was lowered; yet, one could still see in these faces a look of courage, of compassion and loyalty.

As the lighted torches were burning I could feel something great about this land of ours. Friday afternoon when the news shocked the world, I thought this was the last hope, but I was wrong.

NOT IN VAIN

President Kennedy's life was not in vain as he had instilled in us the burning torch of freedom. This tribute to President Kennedy had a profound impact upon my thinking and upon my goals for the future.

John F. Kennedy gave his life for his country. In my opinion, that is the greatest thing a man can do.

The eternal flame beside the grave of John Fitzgerald Kennedy is a flame that will truly burn in the hearts of all Americans.

It is the flame which represents the freedom he fought for, the courage he maintained, the human dignity he wished for all to have, and the loyalty he had for his country. His truth is marching on.

Coed Invades Men's World Of Industrial Technology

By LOUISE COX, Section Editor

A college girl's dream is to be completely surrounded by men — and one GSC coed has this distinction. She is Judy Iler, a freshman industrial design major, and the only girl in the industrial technology department here.

Judy is the feminine invader of Dr. Donald Hackett's drafting class. She said the only problem as the one girl in a class of 25 is sitting on the stool at her drafting desk.

"It presents some problems when wearing a straight skirt or shift," she admitted.

Judy is no beginner in the field of industry. She had mechanical drawing in high school and worked in an architect's office this summer. "I thoroughly enjoyed that," she said.

Judy has found the engineering field "exciting, perplexing, and intriguing." She said, "I like to be outdoors and to do my own thinking, and I can in this field."

She plans to transfer to Auburn later. There she will study under their program of industrial design. "Auburn has one of the greatest engineering schools around," she stated.

"There are few areas more rewarding economically or personally satisfying than that of the field of industrial design," Judy commented.

This field includes designing everything from soapboxes to airplanes. Judy's specific interest is in the automotive field.

As for her personal preferences, she said that she likes almost all of the new '65 models, especially the Chevrolet line. "The Sting-Ray is my favorite," she said.

Judy said that she thought about being a draftsman but later decided against it after talking to her brother-in-law who is an engineer.

"I didn't like the idea of drawing mechanical lines all day for someone else's work," she said. "I am interested in working for manufacturers and still doing imaginative and creative work," she went on.

Judy's interests aren't restricted to one field. She is considering minoring in home economics. "It's a wonderful field," she said. But she is in no hurry to become a homemaker.

Judy has decided: "I would like to work on my own for a minimum of two years before settling down with a family.

MISS JUDY ILER

Inquiring Reporter

In the past two issues of the George-Anne, students have expressed some of their peeves regarding the courtesy of GSC students. This week a cross-section of students were asked—"In general, what are your pet peeves?" These replies were made:

Johnney Lawson, Warner Robins: My pet peeve is girls who don't say "thank you" when I hold the door open for them.

Julia Flint, Atlanta: Boys who don't hold the door open for me!

Charles Eunice, Waycross: People who don't speak.

Jack Jones, Waycross: Sunday afternoon drivers who drive 35 m.p.h. on the highway.

Bob Hall, Savannah: Girls who wear too much make-up, teachers who assign busy work which they don't grade, and algebra.

Guy Bongiovanni, Columbus: Extreme noise everywhere, even under the lake.

"Footsie" Hancock, Toccoa: In the first place, why does the Business Dept. offer a three hour course and give five hours of instruction per week? My biggest peeve today is that "dad-lem," cotton-pickin' three hour accounting test last night.

Angie Bassett, Atlanta: Late phone calls and loud dorm-mates and "Sonny."

Bill Nelson, Metter: Four things I can't tolerate are: hot beer, cold women, wet toilet paper, and a smart aleck!

Jill Balcomb, Atlanta: People who are rude on the telephone and professors who are late for 7:30 classes.

Buck Rogers, Statesboro: Game wardens, Fort Stewart, and two doe!

Cheryl Newell, Winder: Insincere people.

Cheryl McLean, Alma: Cars that zoom by, exceeding the speed limit and not stopping for pedestrians.

Sue Catt, Lakeland, Fla: People who ask me to play bridge five minutes before I have a class 'cause I'll probably cut class; and people who spread rumors.

Wilson Bush, Eastman: People who talk in the library.

Skip Wommack, Tennile: Simple-minded women.

Sue "Hud" Hudson, Eatonton: Inquiring reporters.

Southern Belle

The Southern Belle for this week is Anne Hendrix. Anne is a junior sociology major from Portal and plans to go into some phase of social work after receiving her degree. Outside of sociological interest, Anne enjoys skiing and dancing.

King's Korner

By TOM KING, Sports Editor

Lamar Harris, George-Anne sports editor, was one of the three GSC students killed in the two car collision on Georgia Highway 57 on November 13.

As assistant sports editor, I will move up to assume the duties of sports editor of the George-Anne. I just hope that I can live up to the standards that Lamar established on the sports page.

ATHLETIC IMPORTANCE

What is the importance of athletics in our everyday life? If one really thinks about the subject, he would find that life actually revolves around athletics.

Just listen one day while sitting in a restaurant, walking down a street, or even chatting with some friends. Inevitably, the subject at hand will be athletics.

Physical exercise keeps our health in a conditioned state which enables our body to function properly.

From the competitive standpoint athletics create a positive competitive spirit within a person. The breed of people we have today in the U. S. thrives on competition. Take for example the World Series this past year in which the St. Louis Cardinals edged out the New York Yankees four games to three. The Cardinals had all the odds against them since the Yankees are known for their key wins in a tough situation. This factor did not disturb the Cards at all.

BASKETBALL SPIRIT

With basketball at Georgia Southern right around the corner, the most important asset of a student body should be considered. This asset is none other than the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the student body.

Let us, the students of Georgia Southern College, support OUR basketball team and let them know that the entire student body is backing them.

On Dec. 3, when we play host to Valdosta State College, I would like to see standing room only and then let's fill that standing room up.

This team is your team, so let's back them 100 per cent and give an all-out effort at every home game this year.

PIGSKIN PREDICTIONS

Now that the present football season is drawing to a close, the bowl games begin to enter the picture. The bowls which will create most of the interest include the Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Orange Bowl and the Gator Bowl.

For the Rose Bowl, I predict Ohio State will meet Oregon State. In the Cotton Bowl it will be Arkansas going against Nebraska. The Orange Bowl will see Alabama face Texas and it will be Auburn and FSU in the Gator Bowl. The Sugar Bowl will see LSU do battle with either Georgia Tech or Georgia, depending on the outcome of the Tech-Georgia game Nov. 28 in Athens.

One prediction that might cause some controversy on campus is the Georgia Tech-Georgia game. Many think Georgia is rolling and will roll on over Tech on their way to a bowl game bid. My prediction: Georgia Tech by 10.

Freshmen Cagers To Rely On Speed For Opening Contest

The freshmen basketball team will rely on speed rather than height when they take the court for their opening game of the year in a tournament in Milledgeville Dec. 4, according to Coach Ed Thompson.

In the scrimmage held Saturday against the varsity, Thompson singled out forward-center Bill Whithead, a sophomore from Louisville, Ky. as turning in an outstanding job. Also praised for his outstanding play was Elden Carmichael, a freshman from Martinsville, Ind.

"The schedule will be a toughie with most of the games being with junior college teams," stated Thompson.

Whites Top Blues, 78-72, In Second Annual Split-Teamer

By TOM KING
Sports Editor

The Whites nosed out the Blues 78-72, in the annual intra-squad benefit game held in the Haner Gym Wednesday night.

Leading all scorers was Raymond Reynolds, 6-4 forward for the Blues, who bagged 22 points. Pickens, Whites, with 21 and Jimmy Rose, Blues, with 20.

The Whites won the tip-off and with 10 seconds gone on the clock David Owens, 6-2 forward for the Whites, sank the first basket of the game.

For the rest of the first half the crowd of several hundred saw a see-saw battle with the Whites coming out on top 41-33.

Leading the scoring in the first half was Pickens with 13 and Reynolds with 11.

The opening minutes of the second half saw the Blues close the gap to 50-47, and with 14:40 left in the half a basket by Don Adler pulled the Blues to within one point.

With 13:30 remaining a two-pointer by Raymond Reynolds put the Blues in front, 51-50. For the rest of the game the two teams swapped baskets until the Whites pulled away at 72-60 with 4:40 left in the game. This 12 point margin was the largest of the contest.

In the closing moments both coaches substituted freely with the Blues pulling to within six points at 76-70. Time ran out with the final score 78-72 in favor of the Whites.

The opening game of the season will be Dec. 3 when the Eagles play host to the Valdosta State College Rebels.

Yeager Lists '65 Gymnastics Squad

The Eagle gymnasts have returned from South Georgia College where they put on an exhibition last Wednesday along with the modern dancers, a new added attraction.

Jon Peacock will be back in the free calisthenics with Buddy Harris and Kip Burton. On the still rings Burton returns along with freshman standout Ronnie Mayhew from Druid Hills of Atlanta.

The parallel bars might see any one of three performers. Buddy Harris has the edge now, according to Coach Pat Yeager, but Burton and peacock are right behind him.

"Peacock is tops in vaulting so far, but there are so many vaulters on the squad that it could be anyone," stated Yeager.

Bill Aldrich is number one on the rope limb so far, but Mayhew is coming around fast. He climbed his fastest time last week with a 3.9.

Harris and Burton return on the high bar along with newcomer Charles Eunice, a sophomore from Waycross.

"The schedule this year is

mostly an away one," said Yeager, "but overall we seem better on the road. Most of the teams we face this year that we faced last year have improved and we will have to put forth a greater effort to overcome this improvement."

Billy Felder, a senior from Waycross, is head manager this year. Jackie Millis, a sophomore from Hawkinsville, is the assistant manager.

Southern Tennis Team Completes Practice Session

Georgia Southern tennis hopefuls have completed two weeks of fall practice, and will begin more serious work in the spring, according to Richard Stebbins, coach.

Stebbins said the main purpose of fall practice was to become acquainted and to offer a trial period for students interested in the qualifying for the varsity tennis squad.

"We lost three very good boys from last year," he states, "But we have the makings of a stronger team this year if we get maximum out-put from each boy."

Stebbins added that several transfer students are expected to boost the squad when the season starts next spring.

The GSC mentor also commended Hall for organizing fall practice and acting as an unofficial coach.

"The boys are working more on their own than ever before," Stebbins said, "They really want to play; this attitude is characteristic of the better teams."

Kingpinners Top League Lead In Bowling Rounds

Tuesday evening's action in the Eagle Ten-Pinners League saw Bob Armenio take over men's high individual average with 173. Babs Brown continues to hold the women's high individual average with 159.

James Kirkland blistered the pins for a 193 game, high for the evening, to lead his team, the Tigers, in high game, 594.

Margie Winn had high game for the women bowlers, 155, as her team, the Fastbacks, captured high series for the evening, 1599.

This week's honor roll includes Tommy Harrison, 517; James Kirkland, 515; Margie Winn, 421; Martha Lansford, 412; Gaile Scott, 405; and Veronica Stokes, 401.

The Kingpinners remain on top of the league by .113 percentage points. They are averaging 628 pins per game.

Team standings: Kingpinners, 38-10; Fastbacks, 38-18; 4-Aces, 26-22; Tigers, 28-28; Strikeless Kings, 28-28; Pen Pushers, 28-28; Alley-Katz, 28-28; Lane Brains, 26-30; and Ten-Pins, 16-40.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION — The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin relative to index of opposition, and is weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: A 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of equal strength. It was originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Holton ...

Surely, if God be great enough to provide us with such beauty as he has, we could be humble enough to return our appreciation. I sometimes wonder how the person who denies the existence of a Creator celebrates Thanksgiving. Who is he thankful to—and what?

There are those, however, who do not doubt or laugh but think. To these go the important task of guarding the American ideals closely so that Thanksgiving will mean the same 100 years from now as it did to the Pilgrim fathers.

Next Thursday, total up what you have to be thankful for in this way: take what you have now and subtract it from what the poorest person in your hometown has in his life. And when you do this, don't fail to include every aspect of your life. . .not just your material possessions.

Next Thursday count your capital of happiness, freedom, and friendship. Estimate your property worth in 'home, loved ones and citizenship' in the greatest nation in the world. As one writer has said, "When you have finished (counting these blessings), you will owe the Master a monumental debt. Pay it off with sincere thanks."

We live in a transit society. Many people in this world suffer from many varied things. Perhaps, many would say that there is nothing to be thankful for. If this is the case, we must seek to find something to be thankful for. It's just that easy.

It's up to the individual to deal with his own thanksgivings and not up to society as a whole. Every man has at least one thing for which he can honestly say "for this I'm grateful."
